

News

2008-08-20 Telegra named winner in International Road Federation's 2008 GRAA Competition

The International Road Federation (IRF) has announced the winners of the 2008 GRAA Competition. This year, 12 projects from around the world were honored for their excellence in the road industry.

Founded in 2000, this program recognizes the exemplary projects and organizations that place this industry at the forefront of social and economic development. An independent panel of judges from around the world with expertise in the roadway development industry selected the winners for this year's competition.

Telegra Inc. has been named winner in the Safety category for the project Powering Safety for Roadways.

